Call for Creative Contributions

Perhaps home is not a place but simply an irrevocable condition.
– James Baldwin

Displacement is more than the act of leaving. It lingers in memory, in absence, and in the search for belonging. Through words and art, we invite you to explore its many meanings. With this spirit in mind, the organisers of the Displacement Conference, the Department of English, invite original creative works from student community of the University of Hyderabad for a special anthology exploring the theme of displacement – its struggles, memories, and transformations.

We welcome:

Poetry

Short Fiction & Personal Narratives

Paintings & Artworks

Photography
